Fourth Monkey
Actor Training Company

Introduction

The organization regards the management of health and safety as a core part of our business and prioritises the safety of our staff and students. Our policy is specific to the nature of our business to enable us to manage any potential risks to the best of our ability and give the best protection to our employees and students. We ensure that we comply with current health and safety legislation and we have a target of zero accidents and ill health issues across all people in our building.

Our policies are implemented and monitored by Head of Operations Jonne Damhuis supported by a core team of management staff. Details of who is responsible for each area are in the table below.

Our Health & Safety Policy is communicated verbally to all staff/students at the beginning of each academic year and distributed in hard copy. A copy of our health and safety policy is also kept in the office and can be accessed by all staff and students. Proactive observation of health and safety in the building is encouraged by Fourth Monkey for all staff and students and appropriate bodies are consulted on all Health & Safety Policy changes. Risk assessments are updated quarterly to enable us to continuously monitor risks in all areas of the building.

We are committed to providing appropriate training and seeking health and safety advice when appropriate to continually develop our policies and ensure that legal obligations are met.

Action and Arrangements

The first aid kit is stored in the Monkey Business Office and a stock take is done on a weekly basis. Ice packs are also available and stored in a freezer in the upstairs kitchen. There is always a first aider on site at all times. All building key holders are first aid trained. All staff are aware of hospitals and walk in centres that are in close proximity to the building and can refer students accordingly.

Our closest hospital is The Whittington Hospital, Magdala Ave, London, N19 5NF and local walk in centres are Hornsey Central Neighbourhood Health Centre, 151 Park Rd, London, N8 8JD & The Ritchie Street Group Practice 34 Ritchie Street, London, N1 0DG

Medical information on all students is stored confidentially with Training & Academic Services Officer and relevant information is circulated amongst staff and practitioners for their reference in a training context. Students with allergies who possess an EpiPen or particular medication are asked to store these in the office to be administered if needed.

Staff will not administer any pharmaceutical items (tablets, creams etc) to any students under any circumstance and will advise them of the closest establishment to purchase them for themselves.

Incident Reporting & Accident Investigation

Responsibility of Name/Title

Jonne Damhuis (Head of Operations)

Action and Arrangements

All incidents are reported to a member of staff in the Monkey Business Office and recorded on an incident report sheet. The incident report sheets are kept in the Building Folder in the office and once completed they are filed in year group groups. The form requires follow up action to be documented to ensure that appropriate action has been taken and to notify if any further action is necessary.

Head of Operations Jonne Damhuis looks back on all reports at the end of the month to monitor reporting and look for regular occurrences and how these can be prevented.

Weekly building checks are completed by Duty Officers Louis Cruzat/Clio Carrara/Anna Blackburn/Holly Cuffley, who will document any health and safety issues that need addressing. A Building Service Log Sheet is kept in the Building Folder in the Monkey Business Office so all staff are aware of recent servicing and certification. A studio risk assessment has been completed and is kept in the building folder.

The Monkey House has a no shoe policy for the whole building, potential risks have been identified as a result of this are outlined in our risk assessment.

Prior to a production season a risk assessment is completed by the Production Manager.

Fire Safety

Responsibility of Name/Title

Jonne Damhuis (Head of Operations)

Action and Arrangements

We have 11 fire extinguishers located around the building that are tested on a yearly basis (last test 1st Aug '21). Fire Evacuation posters are displayed on each floor with a map of the building detailing all fire exit routes. We have three Head Fire Wardens who are fully briefed on the Evacuation Procedures and at least one of these members of staff will be on shift at all times.

Fourth Monkey's Evacuation Procedure is communicated to incoming students via email and a briefing at the beginning of the study year. Procedures are provided for teaching staff at the commencement of each academic year in their welcome email and hard copy is found in their register packs. A copy of our Evacuation Procedure for both staff and students is kept in the Building Folder in the Monkey Business Office.

We have an Anti Terrorism Strategy in place in the event of a terrorism attack either on site or in the local area. This strategy covers procedures in response to a weapon attack, suspicious items, bomb threats and vehicle-borne improvised explosive devices.

Personal Safety

Responsibility of Name/Title

All employees

Action and Arrangements

We ensure that staff avoid working alone whenever this is possible. However when they have to work alone, then staff are asked to make themselves aware of potential hazards and how to minimise them.

Fourth Monkey have a policy that all meetings take place on site at The Monkey House. However in the rare event that a meeting needs to occur offsite, staff are asked to obtain as much information as possible about the person they are meeting and arrange to meet the person on company premises. Staff are advised to always ring back the telephone number that they have been given to confirm that it is legitimate. If a mobile number is given they should always ask for an alternative fixed line number.

Staff are asked to let colleagues know where they are going, with whom and what time they are expecting to return. If they think that they are going to run over their original timescales we ask for them to let their colleagues know.

We have a double buzzer system installed on our front doors to ensure that the building is secure and we are aware of all personnel entering the building. All students are briefed to report any suspicious behaviour to the Monkey Business Office or if they are unsure about who has come through the front door with them.

When locking up the building at the end of the day all key holders will leave via the back exit into a secure gated car park. The key holder will have completed a throughout check of the building and will only set the alarm once this is done.
